Dade Heritage Trust
Sept. 11, 2002 Board Meeting at Villa Woodbine
5:30 p.m.

Present: Bill Murphy, Walter Alvarez, Rich Heisenbottle, Penny Lambeth, Enid Pinkney, George Neary, Jeanette Poole, Marie Stiefel, Cathy Coates, Dolly MacIntyre, Frans Boetes, Ruth Jacobs, Neil Robertson, Kathy Hersch, Blanca Mesa, Becky Matkov

Absent: Rafael Penalver, Luis Penelas, Bertram "Chico" Goldsmith, Elena Carpenter, Clay Hamilton, John Hinson, Don Marx

A tour of the historic Villa Woodbine was given by Bill Hansen, president of Bills' Catering, who hosted the Dade Heritage Trust Board meeting.

The business meeting was called to order at 6:15 p.m. by President Bill Murphy.
The minutes were approved as distributed.

Treasurer's Report: Walter Alvarez announced that settlement funds in the amount of $13,500 were received from the insurance company for repairing damage to Dade Heritage Trust's headquarters caused by the demolition of Dr. Jackson house. $20,000 was received from David Swetland, as a donation with his conservation easement. $700,000 was received from Miami-Dade County to establish a Preservation Revolving Fund.

Mr. Alvarez announced that DHT had hired the same auditor we have used in previous years, Fritz Grant, for $3,500.00

A motion was made by George Neary, seconded by Marie Steifel to accept the Treasurer's Report and it passed unanimously.

George Neary announced that Tony Goldman, a National Trust Board member, has invited the National Trust Advisory Board to come to Miami for its meeting in January 2003.

Old Miami High.

The developer wants there to be a deadline for moving the bungalow off his property. Otherwise, the bungalow will be demolished. The City of Miami has pledged to pay with DHT for the relocation. In order to qualify for a state grant for relocation, however, there would need to be a clean bill of sale. DHT had to withdraw its application for a $300,000 state grant previously submitted as no agreement had been signed in time for an irrevocable transfer of title from the developer to the City. It was agreed that DHT would move forward with the City of Miami to work towards relocating the bungalow within 120 days.

The property owners will evict the current tenants. The item on the change of title will be on the open agenda for September in the City of Miami.

Becky Matkov reported that the application for National Register listing for the Munroe Cottage is proceeding. Doug Wood, the structural engineer, has corroborating evidence that showed that the Cottage was originally stucco with wood beam. Becky said that means that the Munroe Cottage has a good shot at getting listed on the National Register.

The Munroe Cottage is the last remaining cottage from Camp Biscayne built by Ralph Munroe, the Commodore who built the Barnacle, that is now the Barnacle State Historic Site in Coconut Grove.

There followed a discussion about the Bonnet House in Ft. Lauderdale.

Cultural Arts Council

George Neary announced that the City of Miami is forming a cultural arts council. The council is looking for direction. Becky agreed to contact Seth Gorden and possibly attend the Sept. 23 meeting of the Council at the Tower Theater.

President's Report

Bill Murphy said the Becky Matkov had put an extraordinary amount of time into the conservation easement and Munroe Cottage designation. He also thanked Becky and Rich Heisenbottle for their work on the old Miami High relocation.

Bill Murphy reported that at the last executive committee meeting, Becky Matkov was given a raise that now brings her salary in line with other non-profit organizations.

On Monday, several members of DHT board met with members of the National Trust concerning a special grant from the Knight Foundation to spend $1.7 million to encourage economic development with preservation. The City of Miami applied for the grant, which will focus on Overtown, East Little Havana and other urban neighborhoods.

There was a discussion about how the National Trust is very willing to help DHT set up its Revolving Trust. There are $285 million in tax credits available for historic properties nationwide that is allocated by the National Trust.

Dade Heritage Days

Dade Heritage Days needs a chairman. The President asked the Board members for help in selecting a chairman and also in selecting new sites for future board meetings and the holiday party.

Suggestions made include the Fairchild Garden old gift shop, the Vanderbuilt Mansion on Fisher Island and the lobby of the Santa Maria condominium clubhouse, and the Bath Club.

Dolly MacIntyre reported that the Phoneathon will take place at the Greater Miami Convention and Visitor Bureau on Sept. 25.

Cathy Coates said she is pursuing the corporate sponsorship again.

Hampton House

Enid Pinkney reported that the owner's lawyer, Stanley Price, has threatened to go back to the Dade Preservation Board to undesignate and demolish the house because it is an economic hardship on the client to maintain it in its current condition. She also reported that as result of an article in the Miami Times on the Hampton House, developer Don Peebles called her to help save it. Peebles visited the Hampton House and wants to it to be a hotel.

Vicki Cole will help to do the National and State designations for the Hampton House pro bono.

Enid said that she would be speaking before the County Commission this week to present the accomplishments and goals regarding the Hampton House. She added that Commissioner Margolis' family owned the radio station WMBM, which was once housed in the Hampton House.

Enid said she would like to see the County buy the Hampton House, then turn it over to a developer like Peebles who could help with the restoration. Another development company wants to buy the back of the property but is working resolving various conflict with the owner.

Peebles will pay for Ernst and Young to conduct a feasibility study on the uses for the Hampton House property. Enid also announced that she has permission from Peebles to conduct a fundraiser for the Hampton House at the Royal Palm Hotel.

Kathy Hersh announced that she is still trying to confirm that the first "I Have a Dream" speech was made at the Hampton House.

Marie Stiefel announced she will be meeting with Becky Matkov to discuss the contents of the next newsletter.

Frans Boetes opened a discussion on the Maritime Park negotiations. Frans said he has created a 501(C)3 non profit corporation. He is looking at locating at the Bicentennial Slip. So far, he has received support from City of Miami Commissioner Johnny Winton and Mayor Manny Diaz for his concept. He has also talked to Bayside as the museum would serve as an economic booster to the area. Frans said he wants to encourage visiting ships. Eventually, he envisions a living history museum ship to be used by educational groups. Frans said he has a working board and advisory committee.

Becky Matkov announced that Lee Pinto is resigning from the Board due to health reasons.

The meeting was adjourned at 8:00 p.m.

Thank you so much for your support! I signed the developer & the city still haven't signed a transfer agreement on Old Miami High Bungalow - so we've been turning up the media pressure on them. I've enclosed a recent Herald article on our Endangered Sites - I really would love to see your Miami Airline article posted below - but I still prefer letters!

Dear Patricia,

On behalf of Dade Heritage Trust, I want to thank you and your station so much for your excellent coverage of our "Ten Most Endangered Historic Sites" list. We certainly appreciate your interest.

Though I was not home when the news was first aired, a Dade Heritage Trust member taped it and brought a copy to our headquarters yesterday. Everyone has been delighted with the way you presented the topic, covering several historic sites and featuring Old Miami High. You even had a helicopter flying over Richmond Air Base!

As promised, I will alert you to future updates, especially on Old Miami High.

Many thanks!

Dear Anabelle,

Dade Heritage Trust so appreciates your excellent story on our "Ten Most Endangered Historic Sites" List.

Coverage by the Herald means a lot to our embattled historic preservation organization, for where the Herald leads, others follow. (Two television stations and another newspaper contacted us for stories the day after yours ran...)

It is always a pleasure to work with you. Not only do you have a genuine interest in the subject of historic architecture, which shines through, but you also get your facts straight.

Thank you very much for informing the community about Miami's imperiled historic resources.

Sincerely,

Becky Roper Matkov

David Stanley
Vice President of Casino and Shipboard Revenue Operations
Royal Caribbean Cruises Ltd.

As Vice President of Casino and Shipboard Revenue Operations for Royal Caribbean Cruises Ltd. Total Guest Satisfaction Department, David Stanley has overseen innovation that has helped make the cruise line one of the most profitable in the industry.

Since 1995, Stanley has managed casino operations, shipboard gift shops, and the bingo, photo, spa and art auction concessions. Instrumental in the design of casinos and revenue areas on all new ships, Stanley travels frequently aboard the fleet identifying ways to streamline and improve operations. An avid art collector, Stanley also is responsible for obtaining all new art aboard Royal Caribbean International vessels.

Stanley had successfully employed this strategy as Director of Casino Operations at Admiral Cruises, which is 1988 merged with Royal Caribbean Cruises Ltd.

Stanley also actively seeks ways to improve shipboard revenues. With the growth of high-profile brands, for example, Stanley has overseen plans to create partnership agreements that introduce popular restaurant and retail chain outlets on board. This will bring higher visibility and added customer value.

Stanley and his wife, Mary, have lived in Miami-Dade County, Florida, for the past 18 years. They have two grown children.

Dade Heritage Trust Board Meeting
Lummus Park 5:30pm
October 16, 2002

Present: William Murphy, Walter Alvarez, Kathy Hersh, Becky Roper Matkov, Richard Heisenbottle, Judy Pruitt, Neil Robertson, Blanca Mesa, Dolly MacIntyre, Rafael Penalver, Marie Stiefel, George Neary, Ruth Jacobs

Absent: Luis Penelas, Cathy Coates, Enid Pinkney, Penny Lambeth, Frans Boetes, Elena Carpenter, Chico Goldsmith, John Hinson, Clay Hamilton, Don Marx

Historical Orientation by William Keddell, tour of grounds, overview of restoration of Ft. Dallas given by Richard Heisenbottle

The meeting was called to order at 6:30 p.m. by President Bill Murphy.

Blanca Mesa gave a report on Friends of Virginia Key. In spite of efforts by this group and the Virginia Key Beach Park Trust to encourage an open public process and accountability re environmental impact, the City of Miami has not been forthcoming with plans regarding the development of their property on Virginia Key. Citizens groups would like to see more coordination to ensure compatibility of use and design of the Key. Marine stadium has received $1 million from FEMA and is likely to be the site of the first commercial redevelopment on the Key. Blanca had to leave to attend a crucial hearing regarding future waterfront access on the Key, an ongoing concern of DHT's.

Kathy Hersh assumed the minute taking of this meeting for Blanca. Minutes were approved from the last meeting.

The Treasurer's report was approved.

DHT has been turned down by American Express for financial support for the Dade Heritage Days, so another major sponsor is needed.

Becky Matkov gave the Director's report. Plaster work at DHT headquarters has been paid for by the Villagers. A plaque will be presented to them from DHT at the next meeting.

The Director received a call from the office of Congresswoman Ileana Ros-Lehtinen who had read about DHT's Most Endangered Sites list in the Herald and asked what she could do to help us. It was suggested that we ask for a match of the $700,000 in funding from the county for the DHT's Revolving Fund to help endangered historic sites and neighborhoods. Rafael Penalver offered to go to Graham's staff and ask for feasible ways to requesting aid from Washington.

The Director reported on her trip to the National Historic Preservation Conference in Cleveland. She was impressed with the Cleveland Restoration Society's extensive historic preservation projects, including using their revolving fund to fix exteriors of buildings in blighted neighborhoods. Ohio also has a receivership program where non-profits are given foreclosed properties. It was suggested that we investigate whether or not Florida has such a program.

Mr. Heisenbottle suggested that DHT produce a brochure specifically for the revolving fund. A separate revolving fund meeting will be set up for the week after next.

Bill Murphy gave the President's report. The Phone-a-thon raised $2,000. It was noted that there were lots of errors in the membership list. Correction coupons will be sent out in the next newsletter.

The Aviation Fundraiser for Dade Heritage Days still needs a chairperson. That person doesn't need to be a Board member of DHT.

George Neary will look into the need to name someone to represent DHT on the City of Miami Beach's Historic Preservation Board.

Re the old Miami High project, there will be a public hearing on the relocation of the building to South Side Park and for the City to accept the $41,000 donation from DHT for Old Miami High. Miami City Commissioners Art Teele, Joe Sanchez and Johnny Winton have been supportive of the project.

Kathy Hersh reported on the progress of the Hampton House restoration. The County Commission is 100% behind public acquisition. Donahue Peebles of Peebles Atlantic Construction Company, owner of the Royal Palm Crown Plaza Hotel on Miami Beach, will host the Hampton House Trust's first fundraising event on December 18th. DHT's Board will be invited.

Ms. Hersh reported on the work of the Pinecrest Preservationists in advocating for the proper placement of the historically designated Whilden Carrier cottage. The Preservationists attended the hearing of the Office of Historic Preservation, requesting a deferral of the hearing based on insufficient plans presented by both the donor of the cottage and the recipient, the Village of Pinecrest. The Preservationists maintained that the lack of specifics in the relocation and future use of the cottage indicates a lack of sufficient thought and preparation and planning for receiving the cottage and therefore raises concerns about its safety and proper maintenance. The hearing was not deferred, and the certificate of appropriateness was granted to the developer, Mr. Frank Mendez. The Historic Preservation Board and the Office of Historic Preservation staff did express appreciation for the presence of the Pinecrest Preservationists as citizen advocates, took account of the points raised, and stressed that they be considered by the village government and the developer.

Dear Lauren,

I enjoyed talking with you on the phone yesterday. As requested, I am enclosing information on Dade Heritage Trust's upcoming Dade Heritage Days, an annual two-month-long, county-wide celebration of the history of our community.

Dade Heritage Trust is the largest historic preservation nonprofit organization in South Florida. For the past twenty years, we have orchestrated Dade Heritage Days as a cornucopia of historic and cultural events showcasing Miami-Dade County's heritage for residents and tourists alike.

Dade Heritage Days 2003, to be held March 9 through April 30, will have the theme of "Golden Wings: Miami's Aviation Heritage." We are planning a multitude of lectures, tours, exhibits, concerts, processions and special events in all parts of the county relating to Miami's aviation history, emphasizing the importance of flight to South Florida's development and economy.

Since MIA will be celebrating its 75th anniversary in 2003, it seems a natural fit for us to work together. We would love for MIA to be a major sponsor of Dade Heritage Days and for Angela Gittens to be the keynote speaker at our kick-off aviation-oriented luncheon in March (tentatively March 12th, but we will work around your schedule). Ideally this event would be held at an interesting space at MIA (some people have mentioned the "Crystal Palace" on 36th St.). If that is not possible, the luncheon would most likely be at the Biltmore, which had auto-gyros on its grounds in the 1930s, or the Ritz Carlton, overlooking Dinner Key and the old Pan Am terminal in Coconut Grove.

We do hope you will join us in this undertaking as a sponsor of Dade Heritage Days 2003, "Golden Wings, Miami's Aviation Heritage." With all the difficulties the aviation industry has experienced in the last year, we feel it very timely to honor the aviation pioneers and companies who have played such an important role in Florida's history.

Thank you very much.

Sincerely,

Ms. Ann Marie Clyatt

South Miami, FL 33155

Dear Ann Marie,

Attached is the most up to date list of contributors to Dade Heritage Trust's "Save Old Miami" High fund.

Yesterday at the City of Miami Commission meeting, on behalf of Dade Heritage Trust and all the donors who had given to the "Save Old Miami High" fund, I presented the City of Miami a check for $41,504.40 for the relocation of the Old Miami High School. I also thanked the Commissioners for their support and for their allocation of $250,000 from City funds towards this project.

The City Commission voted to accept the donation and expressed appreciation for this display of private support for the relocation and restoration of the Old Miami High Bungalow. Commissioner Art Teele said how gratifying it was to see historic sites now being saved which a few years ago would never have been preserved, and he thanked Dade Heritage Trust for leading the charge to make this happen.

Those who care about preserving the landmarks of our community's heritage owe a debt of gratitude to the Miami High Alums and to all the donors who contributed toward this project. You, especially, as the fundraising coordinator for "Save Old Miami High," are personally to be congratulated for all your hard work. Your personal commitment and conscientious oversight of this project have been invaluable-- and greatly appreciated.

We still have much to do—and not much time to do it!-- before we can claim a victory, but when the Old Miami High Bungalow is moved and restored, we will all have something to treasure for generations to come.

Thank you again for your wonderful support!

Sincerely,

Becky Roper Matkov

Dr. Sam Morrison
African American Research Library and Cultural Center
2650 Sistrunk Blvd.
Ft. Lauderdale, FL 33311

Dear Dr. Morrison,

My dear friend Helen Muir suggested that Dade Heritage Trust donate to your library a copy of our recently published book, Miami's Historic Neighborhoods, A History of Community.

I had the pleasure of editing the book, which contains chapters by many of Miami's most prominent writers and historians. African American history is woven throughout the publication. Helen Muir's "Voices from the Past" includes a fine piece on Ben Fisher. Dr. Dorothy Fields contributed a chapter on Overtown. Enid Pinkney, a past president of Dade Heritage Trust, wrote about Brownsville. The Coconut Grove chapter by University of Miami professor David Burnett includes information on the "Black Grove" settled by pioneer Bahamians.

I hope you enjoy reading Miami's Historic Neighborhoods and find it of value to your organization. I am attaching an order form if anyone wishes to purchase additional copies.

Congratulations on the opening of your magnificent new library and cultural center.

Sincerely,

Becky Roper Matkov

5. (FINAL REPORT ONLY) Briefly describe the project work actually accomplished and indicate any variations from that originally planned:

SUMMARY OF DADE HERITAGE TRUST ACTIVITIES
IN BEHALF OF ENDANGERED SITES 2001-2002

For Old Miami High:

Dade Heritage Trust spearheaded a task force to work to save the oldest high school structure in Miami. We arranged for Miami High Alums to meet at the old Miami High Bungalow for a tour of the building and a vision of what could be done. We attended numerous Alum meetings. We wrote about the school in our newsletter. We issued press releases and worked with TV stations to show them the plans and around the endangered building. We lobbied the City of Miami Commissioners in behalf of the project. We provided the administrative support for a fundraiser at the Seaquarium to raise funds for saving the building. We met countless times with City officials and the developer of the site to hone out an agreement. Dade Heritage Trust wrote a State Special Category grant request for $300,000 for the Old Miami High Bungalow, and then worked feverishly to get the developer to sign an irrevocable agreement to transfer the bungalow to the City of Miami. Unfortunately, the developer would not sign a donation without a guaranteed date of removing the building from his land, and so we had to withdraw from the State grant competition. However, we obtained City funding of $250,000 to relocate the Old Miami High Bungalow, and we donated $41,504 to the City in funds we had raised from private sources for the project. We are now orchestrating the actual move, which is very challenging given our time constraints of less than 120 days. This has been an incredibly time-consuming and stressful undertaking, but we are hopeful that it will be a great success ultimately.

For the Hampton House:

In December, 2001, when Dade Heritage Trust learned that the County was about to demolish as an unsafe structure the Hampton House, an African American landmark frequented by Muhammed Ali and Martin Luther King as well as many famous black musicians, we issued a press release and organized a press conference/protest rally at the site, complete with a band, school children, "old timers" who remembered stories firsthand, and many community leaders. Miami-Dade Mayor Alex Penelas was contacted and appeared at the rally to issue a stay of demolition until the Historic Preservation Board could meet and determine whether the 1953 structure could be designated historic. We supported the designation through letters and speeches and succeeded in having the Hampton House designated historic in April, 2002. Our past president, Enid Pinkney, and a Dade Heritage Trust Board member, Kathy Hersh, who discovered that Martin Luther King gave his "I have a dream" speech at the Hampton House before he gave it in Washington, organized a new non-profit, the Historic Hampton House Community Trust to raise funds to restore this building. Dade Heritage Trust has worked closely with this group, helping lobby, writing letters of support, and appearing at the County Commission meeting to support their efforts.

For all the sites listed on our new Endangered Sites List for 2002 we have researched and visited the sites, met with knowledgeable spokespeople, photographed the buildings and neighborhoods, and publicized them all through our press release and magazine.

For Endangered Sites in general:

*We gave ten presentations throughout the year to civic organizations on endangered sites, reaching 750 people.

*We lobbied the City of Miami Commissioners to pass a new preservation ordinance preventing demolition—which they did.

*We made a formal presentation in April, 2002 to the City of Miami Commission, talking about our preservation concerns and supporting the need for more designations and a National Register district in Downtown Miami. Approximately 175 people in attendance; TV coverage reaching thousands.

*We appeared at the City of Miami's Historic and Environmental Preservation Board meetings to present our list of suggested sites for designation, and we participated in a workshop to nominate designated sites. Approximately 35 in attendance.

*We toured the historic Edgewater and Bayside neighborhoods with Northern Trust bankers and met with Betty Rosado of b2 Studios re needs of the area.

*We lobbied the Miami-Dade County Commission to allocate Dade Heritage Trust money to establish a Preservation Revolving Fund, and we worked for over six months to develop the paperwork to secure the check.

*We wrote and distributed a press release about the DHT Preservation Revolving Fund. Story and photo appeared in numerous newspapers, reaching hundreds of thousands.

*We publicized Endangered Sites on our website, reaching thousands.

*We had house tours during Dade Heritage Days of endangered neighborhoods. Over 1000 in attendance.

*We presented Preservation Awards April 30, 2002 to honor projects which had been brought back to life and to honor preservation groups and individuals who had fought to save historic sites. 115 in attendance; feature coverage in media reached thousands.

*We appeared on numerous radio and TV talk shows talking about historic sites and issues. Reached thousands.

*We met with officials of the National Trust re leveraging our Revolving Fund money.

Preservation Today Magazine:

*We produced an in-depth issue of Preservation Today magazine on the theme of Miami's Endangered Sites. 4000 copies were printed and distributed to preservationists, politicians, historic and cultural organizations, media, neighborhood associations and civic leaders.

The major variation from what had been originally planned was that it took us longer to produce the magazine than we had anticipated. Dade Heritage Trust was so busy this past year trying to save endangered historic sites that we had little spare time to actually produce the magazine. We appreciate the understanding and patience of the Bureau of Historic Preservation in allowing us an extension. We hope the Bureau will feel, as we do, that the product was well worth the wait!

6. We never have enough money; we just do a project and get the difference donated one way or the other.

DADE HERITAGE DAYS 2003

March 9-April 30, 2003

Every spring for the past nineteen years, Dade Heritage Trust has produced Dade Heritage Days as a county-wide celebration of our area's history, architecture and culture. We work in coalition with a multitude of different groups and organizations to showcase historic districts and sites, to introduce one part of town to the other and to build bridges across cultural barriers. Dade Heritage Trust produces many of the events ourselves, and we instigate many more, seeking out a balance of participants to reflect the geographic and ethnic diversity of this metropolis.

The theme of the upcoming Dade Heritage Days 2003 is "Golden Wings: Miami's Aviation Pioneers." Miami has an incredible history laced with world famous aviators, from Glenn Curtiss, who developed Miami Springs, Hialeah and Opa-locka, to Charles Lindbergh, Amelia Earhart and Eddie Rickenbacker. Chapman Field was established during World War I. Chalk's International was founded in Miami in 1920. The Miami City Hall at Dinner Key was once the Pan Am terminal for seaplanes. Homestead Air Force Base was established during the Great Depression. During World War II, Opa-locka Airport was a major Navy Air Station, parachute training classes for airmen were held in the Colonnade building in Coral Gables, and the world's largest wooden hangar for blimps was built at Richmond Field in South Dade. Cuban refugees flew here in the 1960s, and Brothers to the Rescue flights originated from here in the last decade. Miami was the home of Eastern Airlines and is now the major hub of American. And Miami International Airport was established in 1928, so 2003 will be its 75th anniversary! With this one theme, we will be able to blanket the entire county with history.

Dade Heritage Days 2003 will be held March 9 through April 30, 2003. During this time we will be offering a vast array of special events to celebrate this intriguing aspect of Miami's history. We will be working with the airport, with pilots' organizations, with the military, and historians. We are going to incorporate parades, dramatic re-enactments, historic exhibits, art and essay competitions, lectures, archival film fests, and tours of historic sites and neighborhoods into a spectacular Dade Heritage Days!

We market these events, many of which are free or very inexpensively priced, with extensive publicity. This includes: 50,000 brochures containing the complete calendar of events and distributed throughout the community, hundreds of press releases, display newspaper advertising, stories placed and run in magazines, street banners, radio and TV PSA's, and website display. This year, with our aviation theme, we will also work with the Miami International Airport to display Dade Heritage Days dates and exhibits.
